The bronze library gong continues to hang, defiant of pennies, and students still push hurriedly through halls to class, only to stand idly in the hall for another four minutes.

Annually the tips of the hat are expected, the cafeteria's ham and beans menu dreaded, and the best parking spaces cherished.

The rooted traditions and unwritten laws at RCHS keep the year moving at a steady, familiar pace.

With George Washington, apple pie and red, white and blue streamers emblazoned on every billboard, advertisement, and display in sight, the Bicentennial is one highlight of '76 that won't fade so easily with time.

The county's Bicentennial committee and the school's history club have sponsored many radio talks, displays and programs in honor of the occasion. Through them, the Bicentennial was more than just a flashy celebration — it was a time to re-evaluate and re-appreciate our country today.

The "Get-Away" Hours

In the days of readin', writin', and 'rithmetic at the one-room school house, even the teachers would have questioned what C.O.E., FHA, or R-Teens could possibly mean. Today, however, school not only teaches basic academic subjects, but offers a variety of programs to train students for careers after graduation and many clubs for students to become involved with, as a "get-away" from routine classwork.

Anyone who has completed required business courses can apply to join the Intensive Lab program during their senior year. After a semester in the lab, many receive actual on-the-job training, through the Cooperative Education Program. (C.O.E.) The Vocational Agricultural classes offer another training program in which students participate in judging soil, livestock, crops, and dairy. The class plants and harvests its own crops each year. Industrial Education gives many students an insight into various jobs concerning architecture, building, and machinery. Homemaking classes also prepare the student for life vocations without college study. Cadet teaching gives students a chance for everyday experiences of teaching.

Some of the seniors who have all of their credits can work half-day and go to school the other half. This enables them to earn money for college or further their training on the job.

The numerous clubs at school give the student a chance to get away from the daily classroom trauma and participate in activities that especially interest him, from service work to public speaking; history to foreign language.

Lions Jell at Season End

The varsity football team ran into some stiff competition this year, ending the season four wins, six losses. The Lions were rebuilding after last year, but faced up to the task, by the end of the season. The season as a whole was disappointing but there were some high points. Rated Martinsville came to RCHS and the Lions held them to only 14 points. Another high point for the Lions was Junior David Heeb making the All-Conference for his second consecutive year.

Individual awards were given to Ron Poindexter, Joe Redden, David Heeb, David Owens, Mark Olson, and Louis Fahey.

B-Team Needs No Help

The reserve Cubs wound up a very successful season with a win over arch-rival Connersville. With this win, the team, under Coach Patton, sailed to a 7-1 season. The team had good size and many first-year players held the opposition well. One of the winning combinations was "gang tackling," there were at least two or three guys in on the majority of the tackles.

Leading the offense were John Bowling and Tony Nicholson. Standouts on the defensive side were Mike McManus and Greg Maple.

Frosh Show Promise

The '75 season for the freshmen was successful in that a great many of the players played to their potential. Their record was 3-5 but that was not reflective of their ability. Jeff Pennington fought at the helm of offense, seconded by Kim Smith and Mike Bowling. They moved the ball consistently, but couldn't seem to come up with the big plays.

The defense of the frosh team was very sticky. Henry Case led the gridders with the most tackles. Scott Ruby helped Henry in destroying opponents.

Coach Gratzer was pleased with the play of his first year hopefuls, though he didn't have a winning season.

Lion Fever Epidemic Spreads Through RCHS

March came "in like a Lion," in Rush County at least, as the IHSAA basketball tournament was played. The school and community got to see the Lions in the final game of the state contest for the first time in RCHS basketball history. Throughout the month, the common Rushville fashions were booster jackets, buttons, derbies, bandanas; the school, many homes, cars and most stores were decorated in red and black; and pep sessions full of Mr. Turner leading the "Rockin' Round the Clock," Dancing Roger, skits, yells, or Mr. Angle driving a miniature Model-T through the gym became everyday occurrences. After the final game with Marion, an estimated 6000 (in our 3200-capacity gym) waited in the gym to welcome back the team who brought more pride and excitement into the community than Rush County has ever seen.

D

Hoosier hysteria swept Rush County, from the season opener when the Lions began their winning streak that was broken only once, to the final game in the state tournament, when Marion slipped by Rushville for the first place title. But the Lions were in no way called the losers; they completed an outstanding 26-2 season, won the first semi-state title in Rush County history, and in the first game at the state came back from 21 points down to eliminate first-ranked East Chicago Washington from the tournament.

The team's success was not due to one talented player, but to a whole squad of skilled ballhandlers who specialized in team work. One of these was Rick Goins, the consistently high-scoring guard who was nominated to the all-state team and broke the gym record by scoring 45 points in one game. Brad Miley, with his 6'7½", improved as the year progressed till the final tournament, where he awed his opponents with his unmatched rebounding. He was named to honorable mention on the all-state team. Myron Shouse, Neville Cullum, Dennis Goins, Brian Easley and Steve Goddard completed the starters and each pulled the team out of rough spots during the season.

Even the TV newscasters and sportswriters who recognized the team could not capture the real spirit of pride that the Lions brought to our town; but few people around here will forget the '76 Lions.

Many of the photos in our book are by Mr. Ray Hay. Although they are not credited as Mr. Egan's photos, we would like to really thank him for all the help he has given us.

In the second match between Richmond and the Lions, in the play-off games, this Devil found he could not stop Myron Shouse, or the rest of the team from scoring the first RCHS Semi-State title. F. Brad Miley, the former Speedway Sparkplug, may have been the spark that got the Lions through the East Chicago game; he pulled out 29 rebounds and scored 17 points in the match, and marked up 48 rebounds and 36 points during the two state games.

Reserves Exceed Expectations

The 1975-76 RCHS Junior Varsity basketball team turned in a well-played season. The team was not expected to fare well, but Coach Jerry Banks led his team to a significant 15-5 record.

Bruce Copple carried the main load for the team, averaging 14 points a game and pulling down 179 rebounds. Joe Beard was the floor general for the team as he averaged 3.9 assists per contest.

The cubs lost a heart-breaking 36-27 game to Greenfield in the final game of the holiday tourney.

Coach Taylor's "young" wrestling team ended the season with a disappointing 4-9-1 record. The varsity team consisted of five seniors, one junior, seven sophomores, and two freshmen. There were many bright spots throughout the season, however. Captains Mark Olson and David Wood along with senior Clark Brammer lead the team into some fine showings at the tourneys. Olson with a 17-2 record and Brammer's 21-6-1 record, advanced to the semi-state. Wood finished the season with a 15-7-1 record and placed fourth at the regional. Two underclassmen, Jeff Turner and Jeff Dennis advanced to the regional also.

Reserve team, coached by Mr. Houser had a building season of 1-9. An outstanding wrestler for the team was sophomore Scot Billman with a record of 4-9. Billman was moved up to varsity later in the season.

Tennis

The 75-76 tennis season was the first time that the sport was held just in the fall; the team made the most of their single opportunity. The racketmen had one of the best records in some years with a 9-4 mark, winning their first seven matches.

One boost over last season was Brad Miley from Speedway. He held down the No. 1 spot. Tom Dusing and Joe Taff were second and third, respectively. Besides the great season, another feat was accomplished — Tim Dusing went undefeated in singles competition.

Seniors lead the pack, but the underclassmen helped with the cause. They were Brent Dyer, Bill Hatfield, J. R. Billman, Jim Gridley, and Craig Fenimore.

CC Has Building Year

Not much was said about this years oss country team. The 1-14 season as the first losing season for Coach ck Brown in many years. The reason r the drop was the runners lost rough last year's graduation.

The team this year was inexperi-nced. Fred Nuetzel was the No. 1 nner this year, even though it was s first year for the sport. Dan Shan-an was out for the majority of the ason due to illness. He returned for few meets and showed his winning rm.

Women's Lib made a break-through in RCHS sports in the form of Betsy Miller. She never won a meet, but was always making opposing runners work a little harder.

Other team members were Kevin Lee, Jack Lee, Ron Richards, David Hoover, David Wood, and Nick Fields.

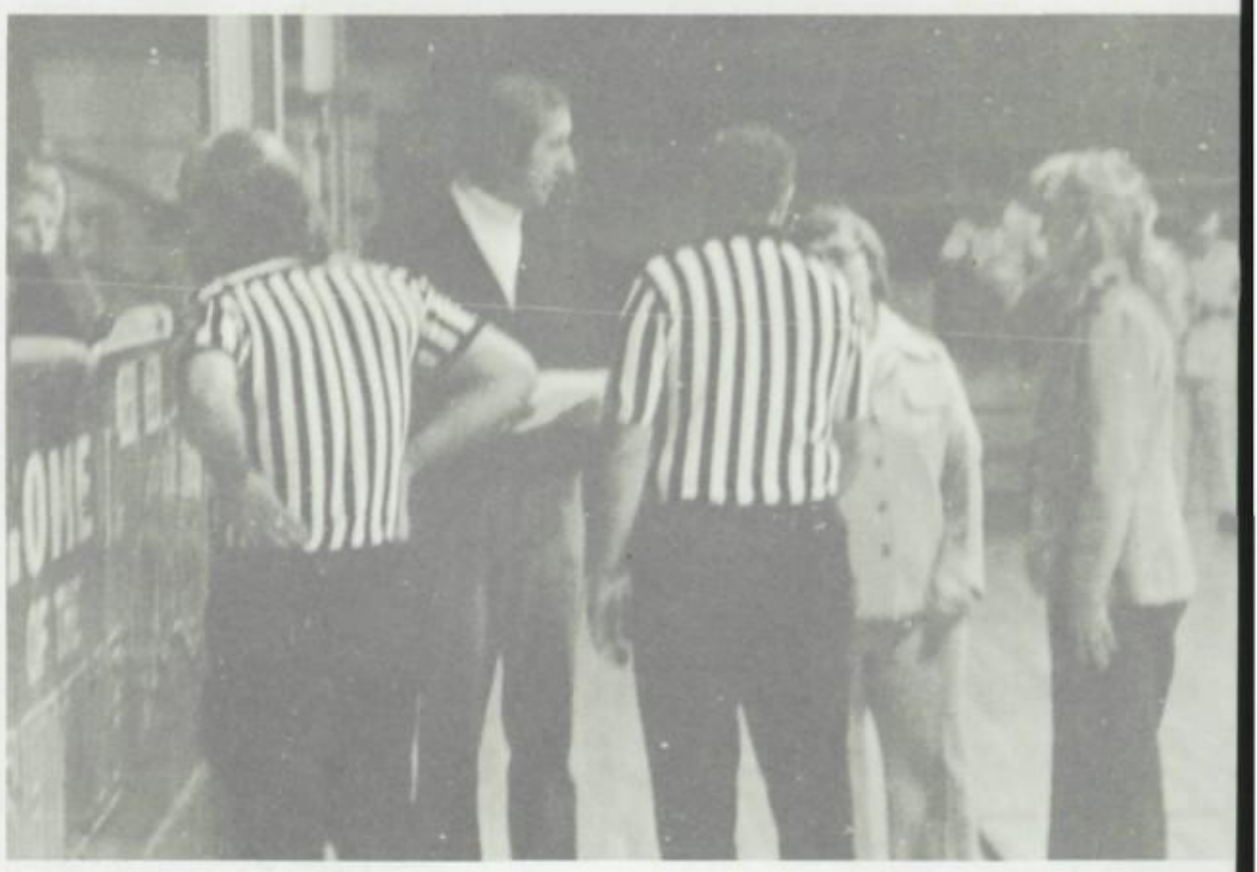
Girls Can Be Athletes!



With all the excitement about the guys' basketball season, some people didn't notice the girls' basketball team. The team was very strong this year, they finished with a 7-2 season and went on to become the sectional champions over Morton Memorial, Connersville and Richmond. In the regional competition, the girls advanced to the final game before they were defeated by a slim two points.

The girls' golf team, under the direction of Coach Vicky Kirby, closed out the season with a 2-4 season. They captured second place in a three-way meet at Franklin. Jan Kleiman was the low medalist in six out of seven meets.

In the fall, many girls participated on the volleyball team. Although the season was not the most successful in winnings, the girls gained experience and enjoyed the sport.

The girls athletic programs have been steadily gaining momentum in recent years. The gymnastics team in its second season was able to schedule 6 meets and for the first time some of the meets were held here in our multi-purpose room. Twelve girls from Miss Kirby's team qualified to compete in the sectional.

In their third season of competition, the girls' track team left opponents in a cloud of dust. The expanded season of 11 meets gave the girls a chance to improve in experience. Several of the girls had practiced with the winter track team to begin the season in better shape.

Coach Cinda Rice's tennis team began the season welcoming back eight players from the previous year. Because the team was more experienced, they were able to out-do previous season records.

The bowling team was somewhat less than active this year, participating in only one meet. However with Coach McDaniel's tips, the girls learned more about the game and enjoyed practicing on the lanes.

Administration Improves RCHS

When unexcused tardies piled up, when weeks went by without pep sessions or convocations, when school wasn't cancelled on an icy, snowy day or when mountainous schedule conflicts arose, it seemed the administration just couldn't see eye to eye with students.

But the students best interests were always considered in the administrators' decisions. Mr. Turner spent most of his days trying to prevent school problems and resolving conflicts that did arise. He oversaw the scheduling of athletic events and special events, observed and made a critique of each teacher twice a year, prepared the school budgets, and generally made sure all facets of the school ran properly — besides giving the announcements and seeing parents, teachers and students constantly about individual problems each day.

Mr. O'Dell and Mr. Taff served as his right-hand men. Mr. O'Dell was in charge of student-related parts of the school, such as the club programs and meetings, the student council and student elections. Mr. Taff's job dealt with the building's maintenance and attendance.

Mrs. Hartzler and Miss Thomas helped Mr. Turner as secretaries, but along with secretarial work extra duties were often delegated to them: duties such as taking care of teachers' mail, delivering phone messages to students or selling tickets for ball games. Mrs. Bowles was always ready with a smile and an admittance slip, sometimes excused, sometimes . . .? She kept attendance records daily and helped out with secretarial work.

The counselors were always ready to talk to troubled students despite their many other duties. They scheduled each student for next year and helped seniors apply for college and scholarships.

English "Ain't" Too Bad

To be or not to be? When the confusing infinitive section came up in grammar, many English students found themselves asking this question. The required English courses covered equal parts of grammar and literature, so when students weren't reviewing grammatical rules they had a chance to read several interesting stories and novels. Some were contemporary books, like Brian Picalo or True Grit along with the old faithfuls like Tom Sawyer and A Separate Peace.

World and English literature offered those interested in reading a further opportunity to analyze writings, while others developed their writing style in creative writing and English composition.

The communications courses were favorites among students because they offered a change from the regular classroom drudgery. Students could become actors in the school plays Our Town and The Yankee Doodle, DJ's in the radio classes broadcasts for WRCR, hot-scoop reporters for the Rushlite and Holcad, or brilliant orators in one of the speech classes.

Science Expands Minds

Science classes were the delight of any student who loves to experiment. Biology was filled with labs of dissecting worms, fish, frogs, labs that determined each student's blood type, and labs spent studying tiny creatures and plants under the microscope.

Chemistry students at work resembled the mad scientist in old movies: learning about chemical reactions with test tubes of fizzing and smoking chemicals.

Physical Science, a fundamental science class, and Physics were also offered for the student interested in science.

Calisthenics and Athletics

On a warm, sunny spring day, many students gaze out the windows wishing they were outside playing tennis, golf or baseball; but the students in physical education classes don't have to wish, they are already outside working up a sweat.

In P.E., girls get a chance to bowl, square dance, try out their gymnastic skills, play volleyball, basketball, and practice archery. The boys' classes participated in basketball, volleyball, flag football, wrestling, and baseball. The individual sports classes spent more time learning the rules and history of various sports.

Studies of Past, Present, Future

Looking into the past, the present, and predicting the future, students discovered, was possible, not through a crystal ball but through social studies classes.

Juniors revived the past in their studies of U.S. history, from the first colonists to the last president.

The present world situation was considered in government classes for seniors and sophomore world geography. Mr. Hodge's antics in psychology and the daily current events in sociology kept students interested in these courses about man's present behavior.

And, after completing these required courses, the predictions of future graduation came closer to being fulfilled.

From 2 + 2 to Computer Programs

Math courses have come a long way from 2 + 2 . . . freshmen began by learning about complex algebraic equations and senior math students mastered the skills of computer programming.

One year of math is required for graduation, so the freshmen found themselves in either a general math class or the first year of algebra. Those in Algebra 3-4, or 5 unwillingly met the mathematics founders, such as Pythagerous, with their complicated equations.

In Geometry 1-2, students drew many meticulous graphs and figures in learning the relationships of geometric figures and their angles. Trigonometry delved further into this study.

The consumers math program helped students to conquer math problems they will meet as they establish a household, such as budgeting and keeping financial records.

In this day of computerization, several advanced math students found the computer programming course helpful as a first step toward careers working with this machinery.

Industrial Dept. Building: Ag Classes Growing

The plush corn fields of Rush County will never be neglected, with 150 prospective farmers completing agriculture classes this year only. One of the projects that the department had was the 31 acres of corn and 26 acres of soybeans harvested on the school farm. Through Ag classes and FFA projects, students learned about judging soil, livestock, crops, and dairy.

The industrial department gave students simulated job experience in architectural drawing, woodworking, metals, being an auto mechanic, and building in order to teach these trades. The American Industry class designed a product they could build and then marketed this product to learn how industry operates. The building trade class constructed a garage for a Rushville home, the power mechanics worked in a garage assembling and disassembling motors, and the architectural drawing class members each designed a complete building.

Español, Latina, Francesa

Foreign language classes and clubs played an active role in the 75-76 school year. All clubs enjoyed the Foreign Language Day. A program in the cafeteria was held and a skit performed with a combination of foreign language people. Students dressed appropriately in costumes of the different countries. Signs and show cases displayed the many ways foreign language can be useful.

Spanish classes taught by Miss Jinks, learn the basic rules of Spanish and are able to practice these applications and vocabulary in games such as Around the World.

Mrs. Smith keeps the French classes busy in projects including student presentations in World Study.

Latin students, taught this year by Mrs. Lord, learn the Latin stems which are useful in everyday English language.

A. David Craven was chosen the best dressed for French in Foreign Language Day festivities. B. The Latin's best costume was awarded to Brian Young. C. FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPT. — Mrs. Vada Lord, Latin; Miss Sarah Jinks, Spanish; Mrs. Lynda Smith, French.

Sewers and Bakers Become Homemakers

As you walked down Corridor A you may have gotten a whiff of some exotic odor or possibly heard the motor of the sewing machines from our homemaking department. This department is equipped not only with high quality appliances, but also is fortunate to have three well-trained teachers.

Students who took Clothing I learned the basic skills of clothing and made one article. In Clothing II students made a suit of apparel, and in Clothing III or Tailoring, a coat.

Making small dishes and budget saving ideas were taught to students in Foods I classes. Students found that Foods II class was an asset in learning more about the preparation for meats and larger courses of a meal.

This department also included classes such as, Family Living and Child Development.

Taking Care of Business

"a-s-d-f . . . j-k-l-; . . . Keep your eyes on the book, curve your fingers!" Sound familiar? Definitely, to those who have taken typing. Typing, available in various classes suited to your needs, was only one of the many business courses students participated in.

Records or accounting was an "asset," to those who took it, in learning bookkeeping. Other courses for business students included shorthand, office machines, and general business. Serious business students enrolled in the Intensive Lab Program. In the program the girls, qualifying by taking the required business courses before, trained for one semester for an office job, and the second semester many girls received a job in a local office. Some of the students were able to keep these jobs permanently.

"We all like working here around all the kids," the cafeteria ladies stated. They have been celebrating the Bicentennial by wearing old-fashioned costumes and preparing All-American dinners for the occasion.

Thanks to the janitors, all the paper wads, dirty blackboards, and filled wastebaskets disappear by the morning.

An unsung hero of our school is Mrs. VonOhlen. Besides selling supplies, she keeps books for the school, departments, and many other organizations.

Mrs. Ricker and Mrs. Cox keep busy in the Clinic. They find that Monday mornings seem to be filled with the most aches and pains with the probable cause being the lack of desire to return to school after a fantastic weekend.

You can see Mrs. Riggs pushing an Audio-Visual cart down the hall as she is in charge of this department.

Need to know the exact location of a book? Being completely organized, Mrs. Bishop can find one easily.

RCHS Presents Our Town

Love, marriage, and death were portrayed in the first semester drama "Our Town." The play centers around a boy and a girl and their families in their small-town lives. The two fall in love, marry, and then shortly after, the girl dies. The story was simple, but the cast relayed its deeper message about life to the audience very skillfully.

Robbie Hendrix was cast as the boy, George Gibbs. His girl, Emily Webb, was Beth Gaunt. Bruce Copple, Barb Hunsinger, and Claire Nelson made up the rest of the Gibbs' household, Annie Miller, Tim Sowder, and John Porter were the Webbs'. Other people acted as the townspeople and the choir.

The Yankee Doodle

"The Yankee Doodle," the second semester play, was put on in honor of that special event, the Bicentennial. It was presented by the Theatre Arts Class, with Mrs. Blair acting as director. After much part-memorization, prop-hunting, and ticket-selling, the play opened for its three-night run during the first week of May.

The story behind this comedy was that of a boy torn between two choices for his future. His town urges him to go to West Point Academy, but a talent scout from New York dazzles him with a possible career as a singing star.

Holcad — Rushlite

When you saw the kids with the Rushlites come into your homeroom, or a photographer flashing pictures of a pep session, or a guy interviewing coaches for an article, or a group proudly passing out the new Holcads, you were seeing the Publications kids at work.

Much more work that you didn't see, in addition, made the publishing of the Rushlite and the Holcad a reality.

Clubs Buzz With Activity

A. The officers of the Future Homemakers of America introduce one of their many homeroom programs. The club plans projects such as the day care center jobs and the babysitting classes to teach its members more about domestic skills. B. Julie Fishell's dramatic cutting reading is only one of the many talented speeches which has earned our Talk Team its place as possibly the best team in the state. C. Murilo Jacob from Brazil became a Rush Countian for a year through the Rotary exchange program. The Evans family "adopted" him for the year.

D. Kris Kringle visited RCHS to pose for pictures and to act as D.J. for the Christmas mixer, sponsored by GAA and NFL. E. Earning R-sweaters at the award program is now possible for girl athletes also; Pam Cull and Brad Miley show off their newly-earned sweaters. F. The FCA's singing quartet of Bruce Copple, Ron Poindexter, Joe Rushton and Jim Ponsler performed their gospel music many times throughout the year, including two times for television.

Do You Think School Has Changed Since You Were a Freshman?

"No, I think we changed the school!"
— Rick Bills

"The freshmen seem to be smaller, the girls seem to be dummer, and the Seniors are tuffer."
— John Patterson

"It has." — Joe Redden

"When I was a freshman I was shy and unsure of myself. Now that I'm a Senior I am not afraid of anything."
— Diane Tucker

"I've grown up a lot and learned to face a lot of things."

What's a Junior?

"Not close enough to a senior! — Tom Clapp

"It means I'm going to have to make a lot more decisions about what I'm going to do when I graduate." — Mary Fran Clifton

"We have placed the only member from Rushville's football team on the all SCC football team." — Gary Clemons

"It's still the same old thing — boring!" — Don Richardson

"It means school has gone too fast and I only have one more year to go. I've got a lot to do between then and now." — Kathy Coffey

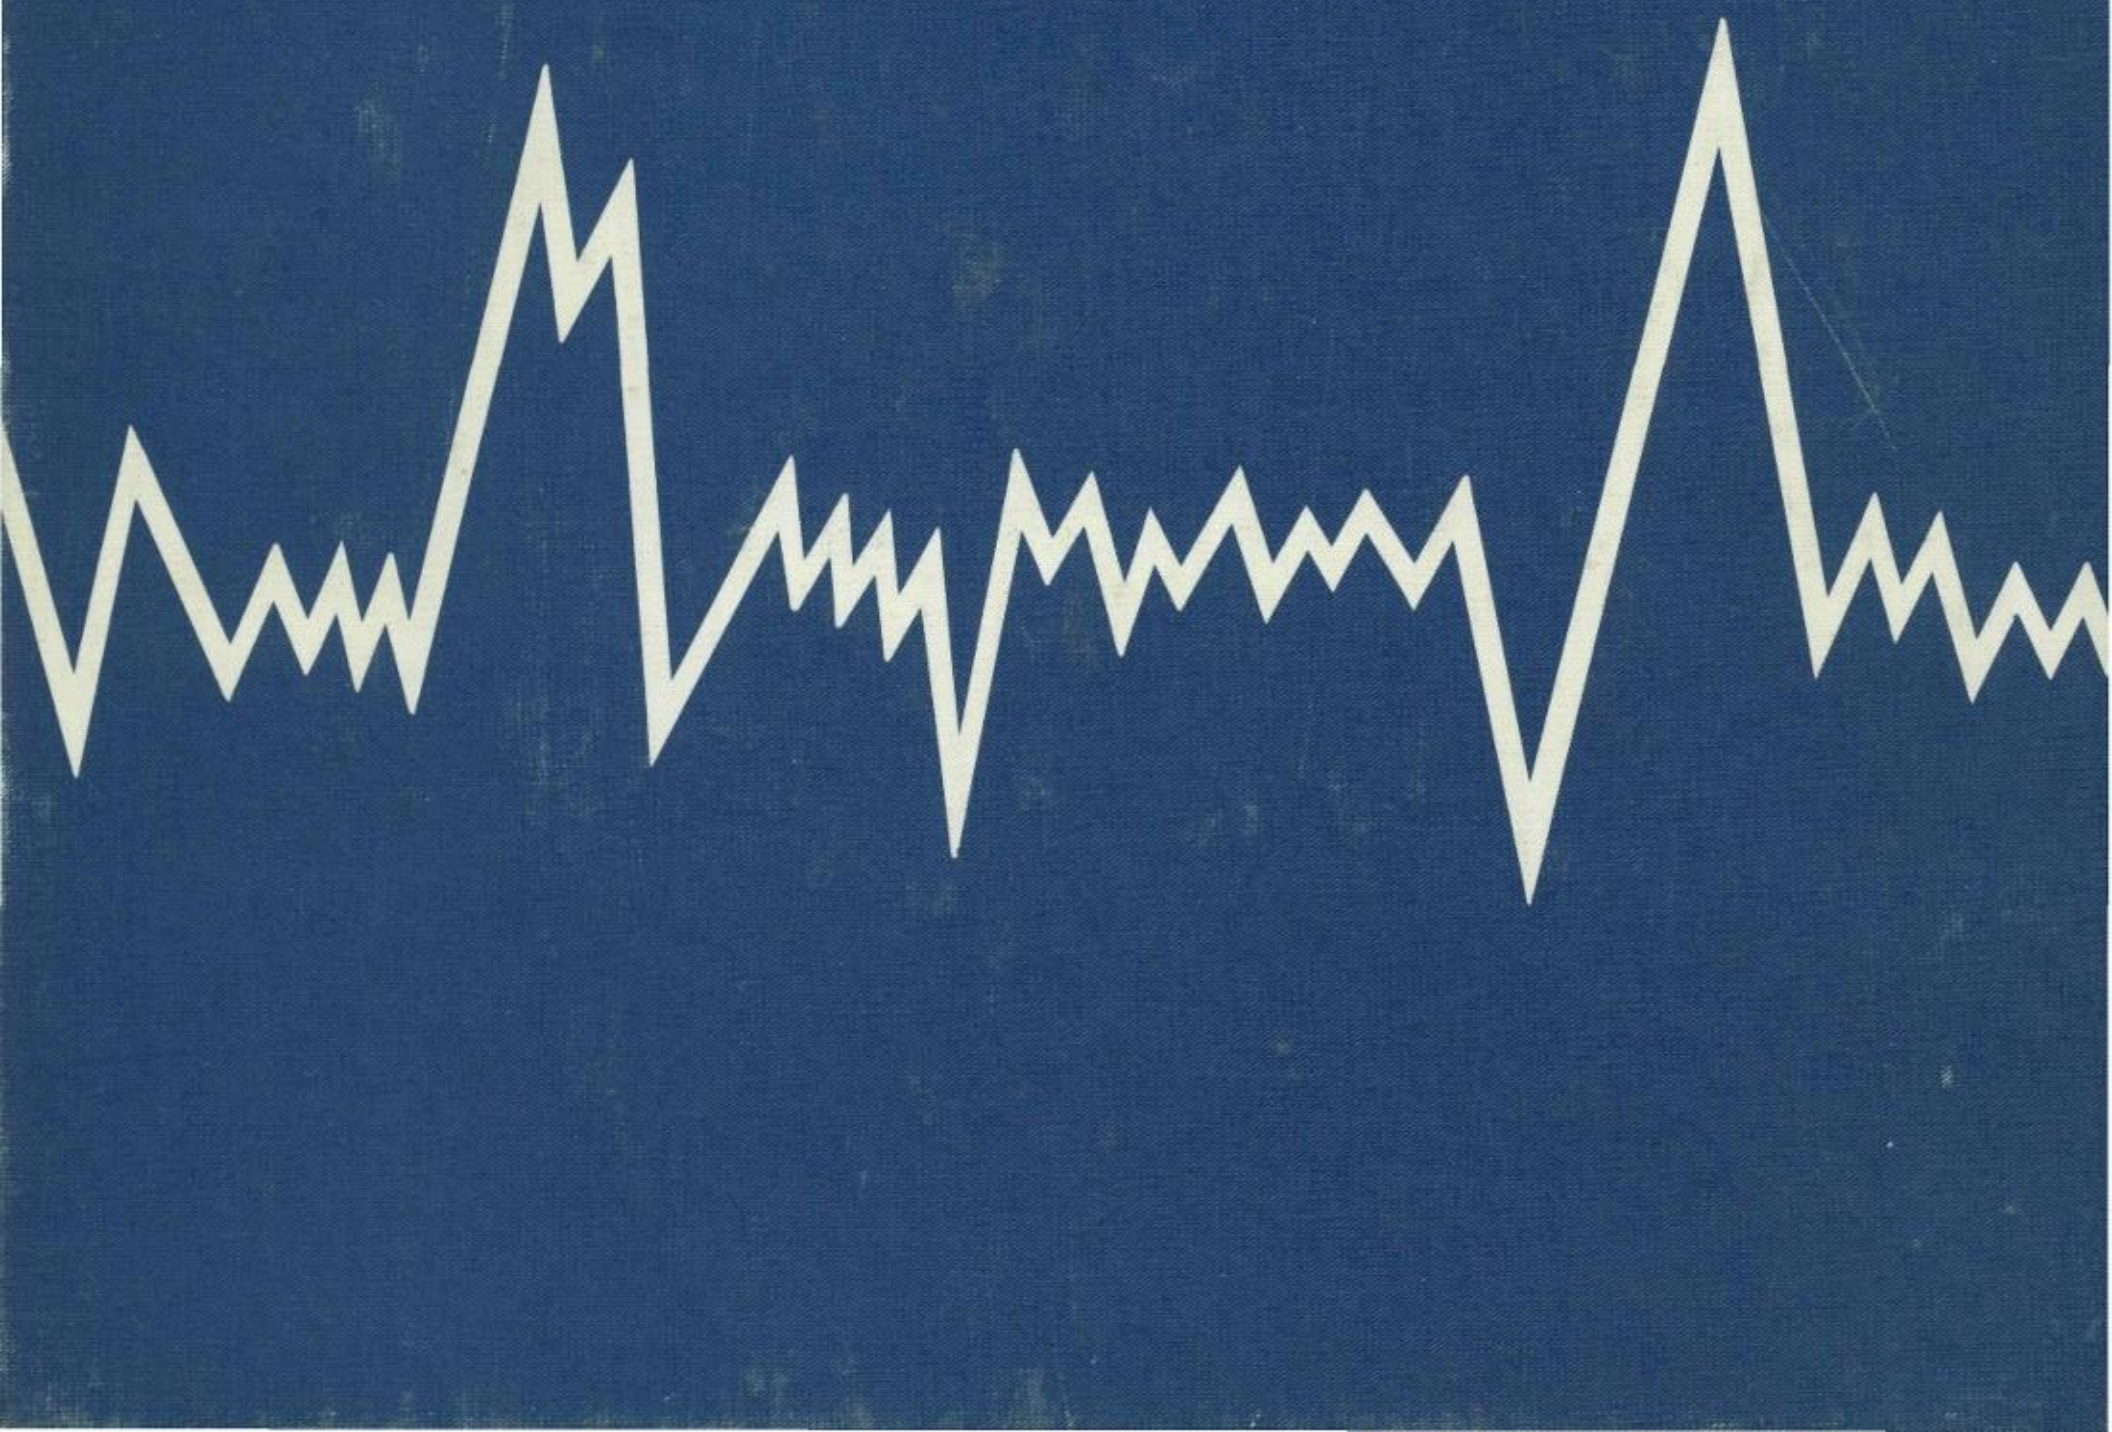
A final cleaning job on the old locker uncovers two sticky peppermints, a smelly pair of socks, and that five-month overdue library book. The year flew by rapidly and the time has come to give someone else a chance to complain about the parking, belt out the choruses of "Rushville High," and stand in front of the bookstore all lunch hour.


But the year will never be gone. The memories will remain in this yearbook for fond references; the year will be reminisced over and over at class reunions; and the special moments will never escape from the corners of the mind and the bottom of the heart.
